RECALL OF RULER BRINGS PENALTIES TO GREEK NATION

Allied Premiers Plan to Strip Greece of Present Prestige and Eastern Influence.

GREECE IS TREATED AS PRISONER NATION

May Restore Turkey in Asia to Pre-War Status, Under Strict Allied Supervision.

GOVERNOR NAMED AS SOLE ARBITER IN COAL STRIKE

London, February 22.—Restoration of King Constantine to the throne of Greece in disregard of warnings by the entente governments that this action would be followed by drastic penalties, will cost Greece a great part of the territorial acquisitions she received at the hands of the Paris peace conference.

Allied premiers, meeting here to solve the near-eastern problem, have coldly turned their backs to the Greek plea that they are willing steadfastly to adhere to the entente principles. Instead of granting the Hellenic nation continued authority in the Levant, the premiers have decided to strip her of a great deal of her present prestige and influence.

Decision Fixed.

The decision definitely fixed Tuesday is as follows:

The severest treaty in disregard of warnings by the entente governments that this action would be followed by drastic penalties, will cost Greece a great part of the territorial acquisitions she received at the hands of the Paris peace conference.

Greece will be deprived of all territorial acquisitions in Asia Minor.

Greece will eventually be forced to withdraw from Smyrna and Broussa, and to give up all aspirations along the Bosphorus and Dardanelles and in Constantinople.

An autonomous Smyrna may be created, although it is believed that the pre-war status of Turkey in Asia will ultimately be restored, with the strictest allied supervision, and with guarantees by the Porte for the safety of non-Moslem minorities.

The disposition of Thrace has not yet been agreed upon, although it

Wilson Pledges Future Efforts For World Peace

Retiring President Tells Harvard Students He Will Give Life to Cause

Washington, February 22.—President Wilson, in an address today to a delegation from the Woodrow Wilson Club of Harvard University, whom he received at the White House, declared he would bend his efforts to the last in supporting the cause of world peace.

To the group of six Harvard undergraduates whom he received in the company of Mrs. Wilson in his study, the president said that he would leave to historians the task of interpreting the events of the Paris peace conference.

Declaring that if he devoted himself again to writing, it would be along "imperial lines," the president said he most preferred to spend the remainder of his days in advancing the cause of world peace, and to that end he would give his whole strength and time.

Robert C. Stuart, Jr., of Houston, Texas, who headed the delegation, told the president that the Harvard Woodrow Wilson club wished the anniversary of Washington's birth to extend their greeting to "you, the great American of our generation," and that inspired by Wilsonian ideals, the club proposed to the president that he should give concrete expression.

Mr. Wilson, who was standing beside the president, apparently much moved by the tribute expressed by the college men, expressed a long time a vigorous campaign in behalf of world peace.

Members of the delegation, after their visit to the president, described him as in good spirits, and said they gained the impression he was quite capable of conducting for a long time a vigorous campaign in behalf of world peace.

Five Georgia Beauties Selected to Represent State in Ince Contest

Here are the five beauties, selected by the board of judges of the Constitution-Ince contest as Georgia's claim for the girl who is to be the Ince find of 1921.

Mary Jane Allen, 635 Edgewood avenue, city.

Frances Hahn Dobbs, Marietta, Ga.

Sarah Forrest, 178 Cooper street, city.

Valerie McFee, Eastman, Ga.

Ethelwyn Williamson, 70 Green street, Gainesville, Ga.

And they are five beauties, too. Let no one gainsay the fact. They were selected after the board of judges had sat in solemn conclave for more than two hours at the offices of the Associated Producers, where the twenty-five young women adjudged the fairest from their photographs had been assembled to permit the members of the board to see with their own eyes the loveliness of each contestant, so that no mistake would be made in making the awards.

Proud of Georgia Beauties.

But after all that there was something of heads and shoulders of brows by each and every one of the judges as the contestants passed in review one by one. Forrest Adair, prominent Atlanta realtor and the city's veteran authority on feminine pulchritude, declared after the appearance of the girls that he had been absolutely overwhelmed by the wealth of loveliness that had passed before his vision.

"I am delighted that we did not attempt to pass judgment on the photographs alone," he declared. "For as beautiful as the photographs were, they didn't tell the half of the radiance of these twenty-five young women. Every Georgian should be proud of these girls, and my only regret is that we couldn't see more of them."

GOVERNOR NAMED AS SOLE ARBITER IN COAL STRIKE

Troops Ordered Withdrawn by Executive Order as Mines Call Off Strike.

GOVERNOR'S DECISIONS TO BE CONCLUSIVE

Both Sides to Controversy Agree to Accept Settlement Terms Without Dispute.

Montgomery, Ala., February 22.—The Alabama coal strike ended today. Concurrent with an order by the United States Mine Workers of America, suspending the strike, Alabama national guardsmen were withdrawn from the affected area by executive order signed at 1:35 p. m.

By agreement between the coal operators and the union, the entire question of settlement has been placed in the hands of Governor Kilby, who has accepted the office of mediator. The governor's decisions and orders will be final.

To Withdraw Troops.

At the direction of the governor the adjutant general immediately issued an order to General R. E. Steiner to assemble the eleven companies of troops on duty in the seven counties at Birmingham immediately, from which point they will proceed to their home stations for discharge.

The governor later in the day issued a statement in which he said that the methods by which he will arrive at a basis of settlement will be speedily announced. It was stated that he will likely name a commission composed of three men to aid him in the work.

The governor said it will take a few days for him to familiarize himself more fully with the situation, but he assured all persons at interest that "a prompt and just settlement" might be expected.

To Accept Decisions.

The Alabama Coal Operators' association and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America have pledged themselves in writing in naming the governor as the arbiter and to abide by all decisions he may make.

The pledge of the operators is signed by James Bonneyman, chairman; G. F. Peter, Frank Nelson, Jr., Charles F. Debardeleben and Frank G. Morris. The mine workers' pledge is executed by Van A. Bittner, chief representative; J. R. Kennamer, president; district 20; William Harrison, international board member, district 30, and J. L. Clemons, secretary-treasurer, district 20.

Agreement between the operators and the union was brought about by the efforts of Governor Kilby, Birmingham publisher, who acted as representative of the people of Alabama.

Mr. Hanson presented the pledges to Governor Kilby last night and was in conference with him until early today, when announcement was made that the governor accepted the task imposed upon him.

To Name Commission.

In presenting the agreement to Governor Kilby, Mr. Hanson urged the appointment of a commission to vote for the passage of the proposed $2,500,000 bond issue in the election March 4, and also urging that they do all in their power to assist the election, a letter has been mailed out to the membership of the body by a committee on the bond campaign appointed by President Lee Schraft.

BELGIAN PAYMENT IN GERMAN BONDS URGED BY WILSON

President Recommends Acceptance of Bonds for Debt Contracted Before Armistice Signing.

TOTALS $171,780,000, BESIDES INTEREST

Agreement to Recommend Move Made by President With British and French Premiers.

INTEREST IN ISSUE OF BONDS SHOWN AT BIG MEETINGS

Washington, February 22.—Enactment of legislation authorizing the treasury department to accept German bonds in full payment of Belgium's debt to the United States contracted before the signing of the armistice, was recommended to congress today by President Wilson.

The total of this debt was placed at $171,780,000, with interest from April 15, 1919, including sums advanced since the armistice, however, Belgium owes the United States approximately $242,445,000.

In submitting his resolution, the president transmitted a copy of an agreement entered into with Belgium by the British and French premiers and himself to recommend to their respective governments that special German bonds be delivered to the reparations commission be accepted in the amount corresponding to the sum which Belgium had borrowed from the United States, Great Britain and France prior to the armistice.

Addressed to Hymans.

This agreement was drawn and signed at Paris on June 16, 1919, and was addressed to M. Hymans, Belgian minister for foreign affairs.

The president said that for "various reasons" the agreement was not embodied in the treaty of peace.

The reparations commission, congress was informed, has not as yet finally determined the details of the issuance of the treasury bonds by the German government, but the president said that "in view of the approaching termination of my administration I have brought this matter to your attention, hoping that suitable action may be taken at the appropriate time."

The copy of the agreement between the Belgian government and the president and the French and British premiers as transmitted to congress, follows:

Agreement.

"M. Hymans, Ministre des Affaires Etrangères, Hôtel Lott, Paris.—Sir: The reparations clauses of the draft treaty obliging Germany to make reparation to the allied and associated governments up to November 11, 1919, Germany is to make a special issue of such bonds to be delivered to the reparations commission.

Washington, February 22.—Approval was given today by international labor union heads and their attorneys to a tentative draft of a bill to legalize the right of labor unions to organize all fields of industry despite individual contracts between employers and employees prohibiting union membership.

The bill, which is designed to offset the effect of the United States supreme court decision in the Hitchman Coal and Coke company case, upholding the validity of these individual contracts, will be submitted at once to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor for final approval.

The union heads also instructed their counsel to ascertain if it would be possible to ask for a rehearing of the case of the Duplex Printing Press company against the International Association of Machinists in which the United States supreme court handed down a decision declaring secondary boycott by labor unions illegal. The attorneys were directed to proceed with their application unless the time limit allowed by the court had expired. The Hitchman decision, which also made labor unions liable to monetary damages, if any employee joined a union organization which stipulated that he would not join any labor organization, was handed down by the supreme court in 1918.

Unions Joining Fight.

International unions which have joined in the fight to have the individual contracts declared illegal and make unionization of such workers possible are the United Mine Workers of America, the Molders' union, Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, International Association of Machinists and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, in addressing the conference, declared that the Hitchman decision had been a "great menace to organized labor" and that the operators had gone into the courts and obtained injunctions against the union.

the board of park commissioners. In addition the board raised the wages of the common laborers from 35 cents an hour back to 40 cents, and inaugurated an eight-hour working day instead of the nine-hour day that has been in vogue. The pay of the common laborers was cut at the same time that the carpenters' was reduced.

A vigorous fight in behalf of the men was made before the board by Jerome Jones, W. C. Caraway, president of the Federation of Trades, was also present. The contractor cut the pay of the men on his own volition and explained to the board Tuesday that he did it because other contractors are doing the same thing. He admitted attending a meeting several weeks ago where the contractors agreed to enforce a reduction. Mr. Jones declared that the matter was not a question of individuals but a question of principle. He asserted that as a citizen of Atlanta he was amazed and dumfounded that the salaries of the contractor, the architect and the foreman would be left untouched and the men who are working by the day singled out and their pay slashed.

He called it the most beggarly and the most pitiful proposition that he had ever known. The dispute had been pending before the board for a number of weeks. A special committee appointed to investigate it brought in a report Tuesday recommending restoration of the scale and inauguration of the eight-hour day. Discussion showed the board divided. An eye and nay vote was called for and President A. N. Thom, Philip W. Breitenbuecher, II, Garrett, D. F. McClatchey, W. W. Waites, L. L. Wallace and H. C. Blake voted in favor of the committee's recommendation, while A. Craig, J. H. Porter and W. P. Anderson, ex-officio member, opposed it.

FIVE GEORGIA BEAUTIES SELECTED IN CONTEST

name each one of those who appeared before us. He had voiced the sentiments of all the other judges, too. They were Miss Anna Eugene Aiken, publisher of a moving picture periodical; Walter Leibman, southern manager for the Associated Producers; Harry Goodhart, alderman and member of the firm of Goodhart-Tompkins company, and Francis W. Clarke, managing editor of The Constitution.

Patterson Is Happy

They weren't the only ones overwhelmed, either. Willard C. Patterson, manager of the Criterion theater, the director of the contest, who could look misanthropic at an old-fashioned barbecue, was fairly beaming as the contestants assembled. "I had this picking to do," said Mr. Patterson, "I'd get all these girls in one room, kind of myself and grab five. And I wouldn't make any mistake, either."

The general populace, too, shared the interest of the contestants in the afternoon's events. Though every safeguard for the privacy of the girls had been made, and no one not actually connected with the contest permitted in the offices of the Associated Producers, nearby sidewalks were thronged as the beauties arrived.

And when they were assembled to be photographed just before the judging began, and the bevy of radiant young womanhood blushing arranged itself in group at the command of the cameraman, Walton street, in front of the Samuel building, was crowded to a point where traffic had to be mighty careful to keep from crushing a fair flower as it passed.

Explains the Method. As soon as the photographs were taken, the contestants, with their chaperons and duennas, gathered in an inner office of the Associated Producers, where Mr. Adair explained the method of the contest. "I consented to fill this post with some reluctance," said Mr. Adair. "Twenty-five years ago I was selected as a judge at a baby show. There were fifty-two babies entered and, on the following day, when our decision was announced, I found out that I had made an enemy of exactly fifty-one mothers and a lot of them have remained my enemies to this day. When I saw the task that confronted me today, I wanted to resign, but the other judges wouldn't stand for it." Mr. Adair explained that each contestant would be called in before the judges according to an alphabetical list. He told the girls that there would be no attempt to make them act; that the judges simply wanted to study them, as they were with their friends, who would be delighted to return each one a winner.

The judges retired to the outer office and the first name was called. She was Mary Jane Allen, a dainty little blonde, who had a fine line of physique, as well as a wealth of personal charm. Mary Jane pointed to the judges that her chances had been ruined by a beauty specialist, who was anything but a specialist, ruining her complexion. Evidently, in the light of future events, the judges disagreed with her opinion of the beauty specialist. For Mary Jane was one of the winners.

Trying to Be at Ease. As each girl was called, the rest remained in the outer room, each one of them trying desperately to be at ease, and a few of them succeeding nobly. Most of them were greatly excited, but the judging had progressed many minutes, they were exchanging conversation and finally the room was as merry with girl talk as a boarding school on the night before the Christmas holidays.

The judges had believed that the task would be a short one, but as beauty after beauty appeared, each with a new radiance, the job became harder and harder. Finally the contest narrowed down to seven or eight girls. To show how difficult was the task, each of the judges was tremendously impressed with the winsomeness of Miss Lillian Stevens, of Macon. There was no sweeter looking, more attractive girl there, but in the final judgment, they considered adaptability for screening and decided that Miss Stevens' beauty was not of that peculiar type. Each judge expressed a personal regret, that she could not be named.

Meet This Morning

This morning, at 11 o'clock, the five chosen beauties will assemble at the office of Mr. Patterson, in the Criterion theater, where they will be taken in automobiles by Mr. Adair to the Druid Hills club, where they will be posed before a movie cameraman especially sent to Atlanta by Mr. Ince.

It may be of interest to the beauties to know that this cameraman is one of the world's most noted. He was selected to accompany President Wilson to Paris for the peace conference, and has only recently been in Florida taking intimate views of President-elect Harding.

The girls are urged to dress simply as possible, and to be on hand promptly, rain or shine. No matter what the weather conditions are, the pictures will be made.

$100,000 DAMAGES ASKED FOR DEATH OF RAILROAD MAN

The Louisville and Nashville railroad was made defendant in damages suits totalling $100,000 as a result of the death of William A. Milner, a brakeman, in the head-on collision of two L. & N. trains in Murray county on December 29, 1920.

The action was brought by R. A. Milner, father of the deceased, and administrator of his estate. The suit contained two counts, each seeking to recover $50,000 damages for the loss of Milner's services. Attorney Reuben R. and Lowry Arnold filed the suit. Negligence on the part of a train crew is blamed for the death of the brakeman.

Mr. Milner was 26 years old, and his average salary was $310 per month. He had contributed approximately $130 to the support of his father and mother each month. It was set forth and performed duties around the house to the value of from $25 to $40 per month.

RIGHT OF STATES AGAIN INVOLVED

Supreme Court to Pass on
I. C. C. Authority in the Fixing of Intrastate Rates.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOWAY.
Washington, February 22.—(Special.)—The supreme court of the United States has set February 28 for a hearing on the strongly fought issue as to whether the interstate commerce commission under the provisions of the transportation act shall have authority to override state railroad and public utility commissions in the fixing of intrastate rates.

greater and more far-reaching question of federal invasion of state's rights, and the final word from the court will be watched with keen interest throughout the nation.

Georgia is particularly interested in the decision of the supreme court on this question, and was one of the twenty-six states to bring this test case to determine the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

The National Association of State Railroad and Public Service Commissioners is presided over by Commissioner Perry, of the Georgia railroad commission, and this organization has been active in fighting for a maintenance of independent state functioning in rate making involving intrastate passenger and freight traffic.

While Georgia's intrastate rates conform closely to the interstate rates promulgated by the interstate commerce commission there are differential covering rates on cotton, linters, lumber, etc., originating at state points and consigned to Georgia ports.

The interstate commerce commission fought these, along with all intrastate differentials in other states, and has maintained that the whole transportation act will be broken down unless the jurisdiction in rate making is uninterrupted by the various state commissions. Hence the appeal to the supreme court for a decision.

Former Democratic Chairman McComb's Died on Tuesday

Heart Disease Ends Life of Man Who Directed First
Wilson Campaign.

New York, February 22.—William F. McComb, former chairman of the democratic national committee, died at Greenwich, Conn., at 7:15 o'clock today of heart disease. It was announced here today by Frederick H. Ryan, his business partner.

Mr. McComb, who directed the presidential campaign of Woodrow Wilson in 1912, had been in failing health for several years and during the last few months his heart affection became so serious that death was expected at any time.

Mr. McComb, who was in his 66th year, leaves two brothers, Robert and Ashton, of Hamburg, Ark., and

BURIAL IN LITTLE ROCK.

Little Rock, Ark., February 22.—The body of William F. McComb, former chairman of the democratic national committee, who died at Greenwich, Conn., will be brought to Little Rock for burial, according to M. W. Hardy, brother-in-law of Mr. McComb. Mrs. Hardy, Mr. McComb's sister, has been in Greenwich with him for some time.

WAS WILSON'S CAMPAIGN MANAGER.

Known as a brilliant lawyer and successful politician in New York city, William F. McComb received his first experience in national politics when he became campaign manager for Woodrow Wilson in 1912. Later he became chairman of the democratic national committee and declined the post of ambassador-in-law to Mr. Wilson.

Born of southern parentage at Little Rock, Ark., in 1854, he received an elementary education at Webb school in Tennessee and a college education from Princeton university. He studied law at Harvard university and entered the practice in New York city.

While still a clerk in a New York law office, he handled a suit involving $20,000,000 in railroad securities and received recognition which forecast his highly successful career.

Prior to his appointment as campaign manager to Woodrow Wilson in 1912, he served on the tariff revision committee of the National Democratic club. He was appointed a trustee of the City college of New York by the late Mayor William F. Gaynor and acted as counsel for William H. Edwards during the time he served as commissioner of the street cleaning department in New York city. He successfully prosecuted a number of snow removal fraud cases.

In 1912 he was elected chairman of the democratic national committee following the nomination of Wilson at Baltimore.

He was a member of the American and New York State Bar associations, the association of the Bar of the city of New York, the Southern society, and numerous clubs in New York and Washington.

In 1918 he married Dorothy Williams, daughter of Colonel R. Williams, of the United States army, in London. They were divorced in 1916. For many years he had his home at the Vanderbilt hotel in New York city.

LYNCHING TRIALS ABRUPTLY ENDED

Alabama Guardsmen
Served With New Warrants, After Case Is Not Prosecuted.

Hamilton, Ala., February 22.—The cases of the state against Sergeant Glen R. Stephens, on trial here, and eight other members of the national guard of Alabama, charged with murder in connection with the lynching of William Baird, a miner, in Walker county on January 13, were not pressed immediately after court convened today and the trial of Stephens abruptly ended. New warrants in the hands of the sheriff were immediately served upon Stephens and the other eight guardsmen charging murder in connection with the lynching.

State's attorneys announced that the special grand jury of Walker county, which is investigating the lynching of the miner, would reassemble this week and that the state would present evidence and ask for indictments of the nine men previously held and probably others.

Defense Surprised.

The defense was wholly unprepared for the surprise sprung by the state in asking that the cases be thrown out of court. When Assistant Attorney General Horace C. Wilkinson entered a motion that the Stephens case be not pressed counsel for the defense asked that a jury be empaneled and a verdict rendered. The state objected. Following a brief consultation between lawyers for the defense, an announcement was made that the defense would not insist upon a verdict by a jury.

Immediately after Judge Sowell order in the Stephens case, mentioned the motion and entered the motions were made and entered in the cases of the eight other guardsmen.

By the time the court had concluded the formal orders Sheriff Claude Guttery, of Walker county, had placed in the hands of Sheriff Couch, of Marion county, warrants for each of the nine guardsmen. These warrants were sworn out before Judge W. E. Wright, Carbon Hill, Walker county, and Kay and Clarence Richardson, all signed by L. B. Baird, father of the slain miner. The warrants charge Stephens and the other eight guardsmen with the "murder of William Baird."

Sent to Birmingham.

Judge Sowell ordered that the nine guardsmen be sent immediately to Jefferson county jail at Birmingham, to be confined until such time as the court may issue further order.

The defendant, who was engaged reading his mail when the motion by state's attorney was made, appeared the most surprised man in the courtroom.

Judge Wilkinson had no statement to make with reference to the move, but it is understood that an effort will be made to try the cases in Walker county if new indictments are returned against the troopers. Judge Sowell will pass upon the question.

It is said that new evidence in the hands of state's attorneys and this will be placed before the grand jury when it begins a reconsideration of the Baird lynching.

Besides Stephens the other guardsmen who were released and re-arrested today are Roy Patton Jr., Ernest W. Speed, W. E. Hamby, Manley Sexton, James Franklin, Robert J. Lancaster, Joseph W. Kay and Clarence Richardson, all

RAILROADS EARN 1.17 PER CENT IN DECEMBER

Washington, February 22.—Net railroad earnings totaled $17,037,000 during December, which was at an annual rate of 1.17 per cent on property values, according to a statement issued today by the Association of Railway Executives based on reports of the principal roads of the country to the interstate commerce commission. Earnings during the month, the statement said, were $89,821,000 less than the 6 per cent expected under the rate advance of last August.

Total operating revenue for the month were placed at $850,606,000, while the total operating expenses amounted to $458,685,000.

In the eastern district the carriers had a net operating income of $1,943,000 during December, as compared with $1,756,000 in the same month a year previous.

Southern district carriers' income was $7,676,000 during the month, which is an increase of about 32 per cent over the same month a year ago. The net operating income of carriers in the western district was $7,418,000, showing an increase of 23 per cent over the preceding December.

The association asserted that of 202 roads reporting for December, 88 of them, with a total mileage of 34 per cent of the country's trackage, failed to earn their expenses by $20,173,000.

For the four months following September 1, when the federal guarantee expired, the roads earned a net income of $22,774,000, which represented a 2-5 per cent of the tentative fixed valuation of their property as prepared by the interstate commerce commission, the association estimated.

After he had been taken to the office of Vincent Hughes, agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here, Rule requested the privilege of using the telephone. He called a young Atlanta woman and informed her of his predicament, and asked her to come at once to the federal building. She would not consent, however, until she had been summoned to the office by officials.

Arriving at the federal building almost simultaneously with the Atlanta girl was the bride. Upon being informed of her husband's arrest, she collapsed and sobbed convulsively.

She refused to see Rule before he was sent to the penitentiary. The Atlanta girl was plainly shocked to learn the true state of Rule's domestic affairs.

claims of the United Mine Workers and an executive order calling the state troops from the strike area.

In his effort to bring the contending factions together, Mr. Hanson told each that "the public is being slowly ground to death, and that his appeal was made on behalf of the long-suffering people, who have nothing to gain and all to lose by a continuation of this industrial strife." He called upon strikers and operators to join in an agreement whereby "neither shall sacrifice aught of dignity, honor or prestige."

The union officials said in their agreement that they "are conceding a great deal," but are willing to rest their case "entirely upon the fairness of the governor's thoroughly are we convinced of the merits of our contention."

Orders to Be Binding.

The agreement signed by the operators' committee is brief. The pledge is made that decisions and orders of the governor "shall be conclusive and binding on us and those we represent." This is the first time that the operators have agreed to submit their case to mediation.

The coal strike was called on September 8, last year. Various estimates have placed the number of men on strike at from 10,000 to 15,000. State troops were ordered into the coal fields in October, last year, and have been constantly on duty since.

Various disturbances have arisen as a result of the strike, the notable among which was the lynching of William Baird, a miner, at Jacksonville, Walker county, on January 13. Nine members of the state guard are now under indictment charged with the execution of the miner. Baird was the ninth man in Walker county to meet death as a result of the strike war. Killings and rioting have occurred in other counties. At least one miner was shot and killed from the company houses by court decisions, ten colonies were established for the families of striking miners.

Has Your Back Given Out?

ARE you dragging along day in and day out with a dull, throbbing backache? Do you feel lame in the morning, tired all day; suffer sharp, torturing twinges at every sudden move? Then there's something wrong! So why not find out what it is and try to correct it? You may never have suspected your kidneys, yet often it's the kidneys that are at fault. A cold, strain, or overwork congests the kidneys and slows them up; poisons accumulate in the system and many mysterious aches and pains result. You may have headaches and dizzy spells, too, with perhaps some annoying bladder irregularity. Don't wait for more serious trouble. You owe it to yourself to get well and stay well. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped many Atlanta folks. They should help you.

These are Atlanta Cases:

Jones Avenue

W. M. Miller, 126 Jones Ave., says: "My kidneys have caused me a lot of trouble, and my back was weak, lame and sore. When I stirred around, the aches became more severe. Very often sharp pains went through my back, and my kidneys had me all out of fix. They were all clogged up. At times I went along for hours without the least desire to pass the secretions. After getting hold of and using Doan's Kidney Pills my back was strengthened. My kidneys got to acting right and I was fixed up."

Cooper Street

Mrs. W. O. Key, 128 Cooper St., says: "My back ached almost continually, and in the morning it was worse. I seemed to be sick all over. Tiredness also bothered me, especially if I did a little work. My condition was such that I became nervous. Many a time my vision was blurred by spots of many colors. My kidneys were so full of poisons that I could not read the paper of Doan's Kidney Pills, so I read the paper of Doan's Kidney Pills, and two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble."

East Fair Street

J. E. Waldrop, 563 E. Fair St., says: "I had a trouble with my kidneys, which I think came on through the jarring received while working as a railroad man. It was in my back, bothered me all the time, and many times I was unable to sleep. I thought I would be bothered. Often I was weak and lame. My kidneys were all out of condition, too. I don't know how I got hold of Doan's Kidney Pills, but two boxes got to the seat of the trouble and fixed me up in good shape."

Sunset Avenue

Mrs. E. V. Chapman, 254 Sunset Ave., says: "My kidneys were causing lots of trouble. At times when I stood or thought my back would break. I could hardly turn over in bed, the pains were so severe through my back. The pains settled in my head and in the back of my neck. My kidneys were badly disordered and acted too often. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me wonderfully, and made me well in every way."

"Rigoletto" in Concert Form Delights Large Audience

A musical event of first rank, from the standpoint of educational value as well as entertainment, was the performance of "Rigoletto" in concert form yesterday morning by the Howard orchestra, Enrico Leide, conductor, with assisting artists at the Howard theatre, the event sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's club.

"Rigoletto" was the opera chosen to inaugurate a series of seven morning concerts, which will take up in turn the seven operas to form the program of the Metropolitan Opera Company at Atlanta in April. The series is intended to be a preparatory course for full appreciation and enjoyment of the opera season.

The first performance yesterday accomplished this purpose and more, for it proved to be a concert of intrinsic interest and beauty, aside from the preparatory phase. In the first place, Enrico Leide gave a brief synopsis of the opera score, illustrated by the orchestra, which, brief as it was, and aimed primarily to fill the needs of the music lover who is not a musician, and cannot work out for himself the construction of the music, was the expression of the scholar, who can expose the important things that are in the story, and the artist, who can give the unessential information, that merely confuses the lay mind.

Explaining that Rigoletto was composed by Verdi before he had been sold to the left motif idea of the opera, Mr. Leide pointed out the one theme, on account of the frequency of its repetition, its descriptive character and the timeliness with which it is used might be called a leit motif, and which the Mr. Leide called the "Vengeance" theme.

He described the ten leading themes of the entire opera, having that part of the orchestra which announces the score play bar or two of it, in order that it might be recognized in the regular course of the opera with a brilliance, a fervor which translated the most important of its repetition of the music, but the spirit of it, with its insistent melody, its rhythmic character, the tragedy which marks the whole opera.

Interpolated in the orchestra program was the singing of the principal airs of the opera, and the whole had been so well planned by the conductor that there was a sequence, an uninterrupted flow of the events of the opera that gave an effect of completeness of finish.

As most satisfying special interest attached to the orchestration of much of the music, which had to be done by Mr. Leide, the publisher of the complete orchestra scores in opera form only to the opera companies which are their regular clients. The orchestra can use the concert scores which are more easily available but for the solos, whose value to Atlanta is not only in his broad musicianship, but a real willingness to devote this music, this art to Atlanta's advancement in music, independent of his own place in it, there was emphasis cause for pride also in the Atlanta artists who took part.

In France, is a production worthy of high place in the year's motion picture productions. Pola Negri, the star, holds a position of standing in the European screen world, and her portrayal of the little French milliner is nothing short of marvelous. The settings in "Passion" are admirably done with a fidelity to historical facts, particularly when dwelling places of the nobility are shown.

Brief Biographies Of Men Selected For Next Cabinet

Completion of the work of selecting a cabinet, fulfills the promise made some days ago by President-elect Harding, that it would include some of the "best minds" of the republican party. In all cases except one, that of Secretary-to-be Denby, the selection followed closely an expectation of political prognosticators. The naming of Mr. Denby came as a complete surprise, as his name had not been considered publicly for any portfolio.

It is understood that all of the men named have accepted, with the exception of Herbert Hoover, offered the post of secretary of commerce. Mr. Hoover has not yet signified his intention definitely, but it is considered doubtful, in the light of previous utterances, whether he will accept. In case he refuses, the choice for that post will, of course, still be unknown.

HARDING CABINET VIRTUALLY SETTLED

Mr. Harding is expected by his closest associates to stand. Assignment of the navy portfolio to Mr. Denby, who is a Detroit lawyer, furnished the first real surprise of the cabinet situation, for his name had not been mentioned publicly in connection with the place until today. It is understood that from the first he has been under consideration, however, and was held in reserve for just such a contingency as Mr. Harding faced last week, when former Governor Frank C. Lowden, of Illinois, declined to be considered for the navy secretaryship.

It is expected that before the president-elect makes a formal tender to Mr. Denby, he will call him into consultation and go over with him the naval problems of the coming administration. Today Mr. Harding was in communication with some of the Michigan members of congress regarding the appointment and is understood to have secured their approval.

Hoover Storm Center. Ever since the early days of the campaign, Mr. Hoover's name has been one of the storm centers of the cabinet list, many republicans urging his appointment as secretary of state, interior, commerce or labor, and many opposing it because of his decided stand in favor of the league of nations. Whether he will accept the commerce portfolio is not definitely known here, but the general expectation is that he will. A formal invitation is expected to go forward within a few hours.

The former food administrator was the first national figure with whom Mr. Harding conferred after his return to Washington from the Chicago convention last year and later Mr. Hoover came to Marion among the first of the "best minds" to be called into consultation. Should he refuse to sit in the cabinet he may be asked to head a commission for reorganization of the executive departments of the government.

Labor Portfolio. Regarding the labor portfolio also there has been a flood of recommendations and counter recommendations with four available under serious consideration. It is understood that in the final line-up there be a change in that part of the slate Mr. Duncan may go in. One of the considerations that has been urged against Mr. Davis is that although he lives at Moonshier, Ill., national headquarters of the Moose fraternity, his principal business is in Pittsburgh, Pa., which is also the home of Mr. Mellon. It is understood, however, that Mr. Harding has no sympathy for the argument that it would be a mistake to pick two cabinet officials from one town.

Waits for Inauguration. All three of the appointments now lacking formal consummation are expected to be definitely established within a day or two, but it is not probable that the president-elect will make any more positive announcements on the subject until inauguration day. He already has made known officially his choice of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Daugherty, but he has told his friends that he sees no reason for announcing the others now. This view is understood to have the concurrence of Mr. Daugherty, who held another long conference with his chief today before departing for the north.

Mr. Harding also let it be known today that he expects to leave subordinate appointments within the executive departments to the respective cabinet members whom he proposes in turn to hold responsible for selecting an efficient department personnel. Commenting on the selection of Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, as under-secretary of state, he said he was leaving that and similar state department appointments to Mr. Hughes.

Hoover Talks. New York, February 22.—Herbert Hoover said here tonight he had discussed with President-elect Harding over the telephone the acceptance of a cabinet post offered to him. Mr. Hoover's statement follows: "It is true that Senator Harding and I have had a conversation over the telephone this evening as to my accepting a post in the cabinet. 'Naturally, these are matters requiring consideration, and equally they are not matters for me to discuss now.'"

Mr. Hoover, who was seen in a box at the Metropolitan Opera house, where he was attending a benefit performance for European relief, declined to discuss the subject further.

Newly Appointed Secretary of Navy Known in Savannah. Savannah, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—The announced new secretary of the navy, Edwin Denby, of Michigan, whose name appears in today's list of selections made by President-elect Harding, is well known in Savannah. He was known as the "millionaire private" stationed at Paris Island marine station during the world war and visited this city frequently. He was awarded with other marines from the island and spoke on one patriotic occasion at the municipal auditorium. Several of the officers of the barracks at Paris Island will be able to say when the new secretary of the navy goes into office, that they "bossed" him around as a buck private.

Grocers Are Urged To Sell for Cash And Refuse Credit

Retail grocers should keep their accounts closed and refuse to grant credit in times of unemployment, in the opinion of John A. Green, for twelve years president of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

At a meeting of the Atlanta retail grocers at the chamber of commerce Tuesday night, he strongly urged his audience to stop giving credit, for their own protection and to maintain the respect of the community in which they conduct their business.

The need of cooperation to replace competition among small grocers was stressed by Mr. Green, T. W. McCord and W. T. Aiken, members of the local association. They urged that friendly relations be established among competing businesses, and said this was the only way of keeping their business going in the face of competition by chain stores and large corporations.

George Washington Lauded in Address Before the Masons

The patriotism and Americanism of George Washington, as revealed in his farewell address to his armies, were held up as models for the present generation by Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick, who was the principal speaker at the celebration of the 113th anniversary of the completion of the Masonic Temple Tuesday night. Master Mason degrees were conferred on 16 candidates before 800 Masons of Gate City lodge No. 2, and other qualified Masons.

Past Master Arthur J. Stitt presented the diploma. Raymond Daniel, past master of Gate City lodge and grand historian of the grand lodge of Georgia, spoke on "Memories and Dreams." There was a musical program, several singers entertaining the guests. Morris M. Ewing, worshipful master, presided at the meeting.

Would you mind placing your order today?

We speak of Spring Suits and we have in mind the short time between this and the balmy days of March.

There's an advantage all around in placing orders early. You perhaps know what they are.

Foreign woollens of exquisite texture and tone—tailored to a nicety. Lowered prices are an added incentive.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" is Quickest Relief Known

Don't stay started-up! Quit blowing and sniffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks any cold right up. The very first dose opens clogged nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dizziness, feverishness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—inlet upon Pape's!—(adv.)

Hidden Money Draws No Interest

Most of Money of U. S. Hidden, Congress Told

Washington, Feb. 7. MOST of the nation's money is hidden away in stockpiles, safe deposit boxes and other secret spots. Congress was so informed Monday by Comptroller of the Currency Williams.

Comptroller Williams said that of the $5,380,000,000 in circulation in the United States, currency amounting to $2,344,000,000 is stuck away in the hiding places of the owners.

The proportion held in the vaults of national banks is $250,000,000, and banks under State supervision have $224,000,000. Federal Reserve Banks have $960,000,000. The latter amount is exclusive of the $1,000,000,000 gold pledged as reserve against federal reserve notes.

Comptroller of the Currency Williams, in a recent statement to Congress, stated that of the $5,380,000,000 in circulation in the United States, currency amounting to $3,344,000,000 is stuck away in the hiding places of the owners.

This tremendous sum being withdrawn from circulation is contributing very largely to the unsettled financial condition of the country, the stoppage of manufacturing and the resultant unemployment of many men and women, as well as being subject to loss from fire, thieves, etc.

This hidden money, if placed in reliable savings banks at Four Per Cent interest, would return to the owners $133,760,000.00 in interest alone and hold the principal safe. The entire amount would be placed in circulation through regular channels, thereby benefitting the country at large as well as the owner.
